

Centerra Awarded Fleet Management Contract with Neptune Township, New Jersey

- Comprehensive fleet maintenance services with enhanced fleet management technology, reporting, and data security capabilities.

Herndon, Va. – July 27, 2026 — Constellis today announced that Centerra, a Constellis company, has been awarded a contract by Neptune Township, New Jersey to provide comprehensive fleet management and maintenance services supporting approximately three hundred municipal vehicles and equipment assets.

Under the three-year agreement, Centerra will deliver full-spectrum fleet services, including preventative and corrective maintenance, labor, parts procurement, records management, and oversight of specialized subcontracted repairs. Centerra will also implement an upgraded fleet maintenance management platform that enhances data security, privacy protections, reporting capabilities and asset visibility for Neptune Township. Leveraging Constellis' integrated solutions model, the program draws on a global network of vetted suppliers and technical experts to ensure consistent service delivery, cost control, and operational efficiency.

This award highlights Constellis' proven experience in fleet management, an essential but often under recognized capability that enables municipalities and government organizations to sustain operational readiness across critical services while maximizing long-term value.

"Fleet readiness is fundamental to mission success at every level, from public safety to infrastructure operations," said Grant Morris, Vice President of Operations, Centerra. "We take on the complexity of fleet maintenance, so our customers do not have to. Through efficient service delivery, modern fleet management tools, and enhanced data protections, we enable Neptune Township to focus its resources and attention on its core mission, keeping people safe and communities running."

Centerra's work will support a diverse fleet that includes police vehicles, ambulances, sanitation trucks, street sweepers, and heavy equipment. By providing outsourced maintenance and repair services, the program is designed to reduce long-term costs for the township by minimizing the need for in-house labor as well as associated healthcare and retirement obligations.

"Constellis applies its integrated capabilities beyond traditional security services to deliver high-value, mission-enabling solutions," said Andrew Hartsog, Executive Vice President, Constellis. "Through Centerra, we integrate operational expertise with modern technology platforms into a broader risk management framework of suppliers and technical specialists to deliver solutions that strengthen reliability, reduce risk, and create measurable value for our customers."

About Constellis

Constellis safeguards success for the world's most critical missions. With more than 65 years of operational experience, we help government and commercial customers mitigate risk, reduce complexity, and maintain readiness in high-consequence environments. Our combination of proven expertise and advanced technology prepares people, protects missions, and secures outcomes when it matters most. Grounded in our commitment to readiness, integrity and discipline, Constellis is the trusted partner for critical operations around the world.

#####

For Media Requests:

Wendy Stough

Senior Director of Marketing, Communications, and Culture

Wendy.stough@constellis.com

703-673-5986